MAINTENANCE AND CARE

CLEANING

HULL EXTERIOR: Wash with mild soap and water. You can also use Murphy's Oil Soap. To beautify, we suggest a vinyl protectant product such as Armor All®, 303 Products or Pledge. These are safe for use on any of our Polyethylene, Superlinear, Royalex® and Fiberglass canoes or kayaks. We DO NOT recommend waxing your hull with a paste wax, such as most car waxes. The wax fills in any scratches or gouges, then dries to a white color, making the damage more apparent.

HULL INTERIOR: Wash with mild soap and water. We DO NOT recommend using any of the above products or polishes on the interior, as the floor of your boat may become slippery.

STORING

CANOES: Always store upside-down, even overnight. If at all possible, set on sawhorses or blocks, as this will allow the gunwales to carry the weight.

KAYAKS: Should be stored on their sides or standing on one end, if at all possible. If stored outside we recommend a kayak cockpit cover to prevent the possibility of water getting inside. Another option is to store the boat upside-down, preferably in slings or on cradle-type saw horses. This will keep the decks from becoming distorted.

If you must store your canoe or kayak outside, we recommend you tie it down, as strong winds can catch the underside, flip it, and cause damage. Also, ultraviolet light from the sun may fade the color over time; if possible, store your boat out of the sun. If stored outside, do not cover with a tarp laid directly on the boat, as the heat of the sun will create an oven under the tarp that can damage, distort or discolor the hull. A tarp properly suspended above the boat will protect it from ultraviolet light. Simply leave sufficient space to allow for air circulation.

GENERAL SAFETY

Paddling enables people of all ages and abilities to experience nature with unrivaled closeness and variety. Adventures range from brief outings to challenging treks, but even the simplest trip can quickly lead to danger if proper precautions are not taken. Observe the following safety standards whenever using this product.

- Always wear a nationally-approved, appropriately rated and sized personal floatation device (PFD).
- Check your equipment prior to each use for signs of wear or failure.
- Follow the manufacturer's recommendations and read owner's information package for the proper use of product.
- Get paddlesport instruction from a licensed or certified instructor.
- Obtain certified first aid and rescue training. Be sure to carry first aid and rescue equipment with you.
- Dress for the water temperature. Weather conditions can change quickly, turning a warm afternoon's paddle into a challenge to remember. If you prepare to get wet, you'll stay warm whatever nature brings your way.
- Wear a helmet where appropriate.
- Be aware of appropriate river water levels, tidal changes, dangerous currents and weather changes.
- Do not paddle in flood conditions.
- Never paddle alone. Let people know where you plan to go and when you plan to return.
- Do not use alcohol or mind altering drugs prior to using this product.
- Scout unfamiliar waters; portage where appropriate.
- Do not exceed your paddling ability; be honest with yourself.
- Consult your physician prior to beginning your paddlesport training.
- If additional outfitting is added to this craft, use manufacturer's approved materials only; do not impair entry or exit access.
- The user of this product acknowledges both an understanding and an assumption of the risk involved in paddlesports.
